MONTANA'S STATEWIDE PREVENTION PLAN

On a statewide level, Montana has been working with other state agencies to create a comprehensive plan to end sexual violence. That plan can be accessed by clicking here. The plan outlines a program of action both on the state and local levels to create a Montana culture that no longer tolerates intimate partner and sexual violence. While this document is a work in progress, it is also the best "road map" we have for ending violence. Sexual violence has often been seen as a "women's issue." However, it affects everyone in a community and is actually an issue beyond gender and even beyond sexuality. It is a community issue based on the health and safety of all its members. With this in mind, preventing sexual violence is an issue in which we all can play a role. Women can continue to work to support equality and teach about healthy relationships, and men can continue to influence their peers and younger males in understanding that respect for women is crucial for healthy relationships.
